

Parivartan Report

Date of Visit: 16th June, 2012

Place: A small village beside GPRA Campus

What we found:

The villagers were found in a quite good condition in terms of their Awareness. Almost every family give us positive response towards our awareness program. Except few families, (numbered as less as 1 or 2) others are interested in sending their kids to the school. It was also found that Parents feels that its good for their kids to go to schools, but they are not confident with the results (results in exams or knowledge they gain) they see in their kids.

Almost all kids are enrolled to school different schools but out of them many don't find interest going to schools. Possible causes may be due to lack interest in going to school by the children. With talk with the Villagers, it seems that teachers in the school were not teaching childrens in an efficient way. Some parents and kids has complain towards the quality of studies that going on in government schools.

Also while asking families, Few families feel ashamed that their kids don't go to school so they were hiding the fact from us. Different kind of excuses were also given by them.

Some elderly people are very much interested to learn the basic things like reading, writing and basics mathematics. They also request us to teach them basic things like writing their names, simple arithmetic, etc.

It was also found students don't go for their Higher Secondary Education as High Secondary School is not at near place of their village. The existing School provides education only upto 8th Standard, due to which many students have to left their studies. Also, their Financial condition don't allow them to go further.

Work Done:

There was a simple interaction (such as asking their names, hobbies, their Aim etc) with children and their parents. Motivation and awareness was done for elderly people to send their children to School We Played with children, motivated them for studies, played with them. Also we asked them simple General Knowledge questions, taught them about our country and inspired them to go forward for their studies.
